

Judge Doyle Square Master Plan – Draft Recommendations Seeking Community Feedback

What: Public meeting number three

Why: Presentation of draft project recommendations and opportunity for community feedback

When: 7 to 9 PM, Wednesday, December 14th, 2011

Where: Monona Terrace Community and Convention Center (Hall of Ideas, Rooms F and G)

Meeting Agenda

1. Project overview
2. Presentation of draft recommendations
3. Community feedback stations
 - Architecture and Land Use
 - Bicycle Center
 - Parking and Traffic
 - Streetscape

Project Overview

The City of Madison is currently undergoing a planning process for the future redevelopment of the Government East Parking Ramp, located at the corner of South Pinckney Street and East Wilson Street. The site is part of the recently named Judge Doyle Square, which encompasses the Government East Parking Ramp and the parking lot behind the Madison Municipal Building.

The development of Judge Doyle Square will include underground parking on both blocks and below Pinckney Street, streetscape improvements as well as other potential uses such as a hotel, bicycle center, retail, restaurants, office, and housing. The planning for Judge Doyle Square is part of a larger effort to form a bold vision for the South-East area of the Central Business District, which will place an emphasis on transit-oriented development and multi-modal transportation options.

For more information, go to www.cityofmadison.com/planning/judgeDoyleSquare.