

All About Action Teams

The Racial Equity Social Justice Initiative has a unique structure that includes four action teams. Anyone can join these teams, and there is always room for those with specific experience related to the work of the team.

- The Communication Team
This team works on the News & Views newsletter, posters, the Incident Response Plan and different publications and flyers for events. Leads are Brian Linaberry and Donna Collingwood.
- The Community Connections Team
The team has identified current City practices around public participation and engagement and is creating a public participation resource guide for City staff. Principles from the guide will be introduced at a training later this year. Team members have skills or experience in public participation and/or graphic design. The team welcomes members who share common values regarding engaging with community. Leads are Erin Nunez and Tariq Saqqaf.
- The Data Team
The Data Team is in hiatus right now, but contact us if you have an interest in data and want to work with RESJI.
- The Training and Tools Team
This team uses their knowledge about systemic and institutional racism to: revise trainings, develop training curriculum and engagement activities, craft new standards for Racial Equity Tool assistance and facilitation, and facilitating conversations about racial equity. Looking for 3-4 new team members who can give 2-5 hours a month. Team Leads are Carla Garces-Redd and Allison Dungan.
