

Quick Guide for Provisional Voters Returning to the Polls with ID before 8 p.m.

Updated 2/2024

1. Issue a voter slip number. Record the voter slip number on the poll book.

2. Discard provisional ballot and issue a new ballot.

If the voter is in a hurry, they can insert the ballot marked earlier into the tabulator. That ballot is not a secret ballot, though.

The best practice is to issue a new ballot to the voter. First, the voter should partially tear their sealed provisional envelope. They discard that envelope by putting it in the discarded ballot envelope.

3. Document on the lilac Provisional Ballot Reporting Form:

- Method of providing information: in-person
- Date and time voter returned to the polls
- Name of poll worker who checked the voter's ID
- Voter slip number issued to the voter (not the PV #)

4. Document that the voter returned with ID and was issued a regular ballot. This goes on the incident log of the Inspectors' Statement.

5. This voter is no longer provisional. Do not include them in your provisional count (second page of Inspectors' Statement).
