

Organizational Development Resources

About Organizational Development

Organizational Development is a division within Human Resources (HR-OD). Our goal is to support agencies and staff to develop an organization that is healthy, high-performing, self-renewing and change savvy.

Below are resources created or maintained by the HR-OD unit available to you!

Courses

We design and deliver learning experiences that are equitable, learner-centered, and effective.

Register for and peruse our over 40 different course offerings.

Consultations

We provide support to agencies and staff in developing a healthy, high-performing organization. We'll work alongside you to improve the effectiveness of your agency, team, staff, or unit.

Online Courses

To access training content in a flexible format and on your schedule, check out our Online Courses webpage.

Topics include City Policies, Customer Service, Data, Interpersonal Communication, Work Planning, and more.

Team Trainings

Team Trainings are available upon request. They are offered by a variety of departments on a wide array of topics. Facilitators will work with you to customize content for your agency, and on a schedule that works best for your folks.

Online Learning Resources

Browse free or low-cost online learning resources we recommend.

Topics include City Operations, Communications, Microsoft, Racial Equity & Social Justice, Wellness, and many more!

Toolkit

Our toolkit is a one-stop resource hub for enhancing your daily work. You'll find a range of valuable resources, tools, and templates to support anyone and everyone in their daily work.

